

Quality Versus Life

*It's immoral you say,
But how would you cope living like this;
Being non-verbal,
Being dependant on others for life?
How would you cope?
Would you cope?*

*I would love to watch you,
Having spasmodic movements all day,
Trying to control your body all day,
Not able to wipe up your drool all day,
Getting frustrated over your tight limbs all day,
Oh yeah, it would be great to watch.*

*You say you're standing up and protesting for Jesus,
And for the babies that weren't meant to be,
But tell me this mister,
What would Jesus do?
Lay His healing hands on me?*

*You involuntary see the facts,
And you are blinded by the fact that it's not murder,
It's certainly not manufacturing little lives either.*

*It's a fact that these embryos were unsuccessful in the womb –
That they are from miscarriages and unwanted pregnancies,
But you're still unwilling to see that they were destined to help me,
And many others.*

*With a medical breakthrough with stem cells I could talk like you,
Be able to control my limbs without spasms like you,
Be able to live independently like you,
Be able to have good days everyday like you.*

*But seeing you on parade sickens me,
With your green "Good News" Bible in hand,
And hypocrisy and preaching sprouting from your mouths.*

*I'm afraid you're not saving people,
Instead you're crippling them more.*
