

Something about Mary

*There's something about Mary,
The way that she graces across the ground,
Even with a fierce weight on her shoulders,
She always seems real.*

*There's something about her Prince,
The way that he looks at her,
Even with millions eyes fixed on her,
He's the only one for her.*

*There's something about the royal couple,
The way that they love each other so intensely,
Even with many great worldly expectations,
They will always be.*
